Darby Beauty Gives Birth To Four Girls

Good Evening!

President Kennedy's program to aid depressed areas approved by the Senate.

Good. The House should do a ditto within the next week or so and then finally a responsibility the government should have tackled years ago will be assumed. Many regions of Pennsylvania, one of the hardest hit states, should benefit.

Identical quadruplets—four girls—born last night to a Malvern couple in Delaware County Memorial Hospital.

Mama and Papa Cutaia no doubt shocked and surprised—pleasantly so. You know, four little girls all at once are a lot of little girls. The Easter bunny couldn't have done better.

Bristol Township budget up $148,835 over last year to a new high of $1,822,323 with a token tax increase imperative.

Considering the major street and road program the township must undertake and all of the other services needed for this municipality of 60,000 people, the Commissioners haven't done a bad job with the fiscal estimate.

Mr. Kennedy appeals for restraint in the debate over federal aid to schools—public or private.

As we come to the showdown on this highly controversial program, spirited and sharp debate is inevitable. Yet, as the President suggests, if the nation and its religious groups are to remain united—and groups are to remain united—we can't allow the controversy to get out of hand.

The year 1960 most successful in the eight-year history of the United Fund.

That's what Bucks County leaders seem to feel and it's an excellent commentary. And, of course, the success is merely a reflection of the cooperative attitudes of a great number of public spirited people all over the county.

Your faith gets a real test when you find yourself in church with nothing less than $5 in your wallet.

A well-adjusted person is one whose intake of pep pills overbalances his consumption of tranquilizers just enough to leave him sufficient energy for a weekly trip to the psychiatrist.

Husband: "Where am I when you serve the meals from which I get all the leftovers?"

Watch your driving.

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—Quadruplets were born to a former beauty contest winner last night just as the doctor predicted—but the father still can't believe it's true and the doctor himself was reported as "all shook up."

The calmest person in Delaware County Memorial Hospital in suburban Upper Darby was the mother, Mrs. Arlene Cutaia, 24, Malvern, Pa., who gave birth to the four girls within seven minutes.

The girls were temporarily named A, B, C, and D by hospital officials since the parents had been counting on having boys.

The hospital said the four babies were in satisfactory condition and "their color good" nearly 12 hours after their premature birth.

The attending physician, Dr. J. Vernon Ellison, said the first 48 hours were the most critical in cases of premature births.

The girls were born six weeks premature and weighed from 2 1/2 to 3 1/2 pounds. They were "doing fine," Ellison said. The first was born at 7:17 p.m., EST and the fourth at 7:24 p.m.

The father, William Cutaia 3rd, 26, who maintains a fleet of trucks for the Mushroom Transportation Co., which is owned by his father, said the whole thing was "like a dream."

"I still can't believe it," he said. "I don't feel like I'm in reality."

"We don't have names picked out for them," he added. "We thought we were going to have four boys."

The Cutaia had been told to expect quadruplets on the basis of X-ray examinations.

The unofficial odds show that quadruplets occur once in every 620,000 births, triplets once in every 9,400, and twins once in every 92.

Woman Adds Four Cousins

What's it like to have quadruplets in your family, even when they're as distantly related cousins?

Mrs. Charles Arnold, 33 Quill Road, Quince Hollow, Levittown, wasn't quite sure this morning. Mrs. Arnold is a cousin by marriage to William Cutaia, 3rd, of Upper Darby, who last night became the father of four girls.

Mrs. Arnold's main concern was for the tiny new babies, each weighing less than three and one-half pounds, which were born at 7:45 p.m., last night in Delaware County Memorial Hospital.

"The first 48 hours are the crucial ones," she said. "We're all praying."

The Arnolds have made no immediate plans to visit the quads. The hospital will be too crowded these first few days, they be-

Public Asked To Comment On New Rt. 1

The State Department of Highways will wait to hear the public's reaction to its plans for extending the Route 1 spur 10 miles to the Morrisville Bridge before beginning construction, Paul Thomas, assistant engineer in charge of design, Haverford office, said today.

Thomas said that requests for a hearing on the proposed limited access route must be made in writing on or before April 7.

Plans call for the four-lane highway to begin at the cinder pile on Route 213 in Middletown Township where the present Route 1 spur deadends. It will sweep northeast through Middletown and Falls Townships north of the Pennsylvania Railroad and paralleling it. It will be located three quarters of a mile south of Woodside and will cross Route 1 a thousand feet north of Fallsington. It will continue east to the intersection of Route 1 and Traffic Route 13 and then over Route 1 to the Morrisville Bridge, leading to the Trenton, New Jersey Freeway. Service roads and ramps will be provided where necessary.

Won't Affect Housing
Middletown Township Manager Charles M. Melchior today said that the extension would not affect housing in the township except for a few old homes in the Woodbourne area near the old post office.

Commenting on the highway department's announcement, Falls Township Manager Robert Erwin said, "This is news to me."

"We've made recommendations where we thought a highway would adversely affect businesses and housing but we didn't know a route had already been mapped out," he said.

Franklin C. Wood, chairman of the Bucks County Planning Commission said that the project had "been in the mill" since 1953, and that the commission had been making recommendations since that time.

The highway will consist of two 12-foot lanes on each side of a median divider. Plans for its construction are available for inspection at the district office in Haverford.

B-I-E Day Slated May 9

Business - Industry-Education

Day this spring will be May 9. The education committee of the Lower Bucks County Chamber of Commerce came to that decision at a meeting this week in Pennsylvania Inn.

The committee, with David Johnson of Johnson, Kendall, Grupp and Johnson as chairman, also set a tentative date for B-I-E Day next fall of Oct. 24.

B-I-E Days in an effort by chambers of commerce to coincide the thinking of business, industrial leaders and educators, are special days for the chamber members to visit schools in the spring and for teachers to visit industries and businesses in the fall.

This spring's visit will be to Council Rock Junior-Senior High School, Newtown, from 8:30 to 11 a.m., the committee decided. Letters describing the day will be mailed by April 15.

Warm Bright Day Presages Spring

Monday is the first day of Spring, and so today Mother Nature gave Lower Bucks residents a taste of better things to come.

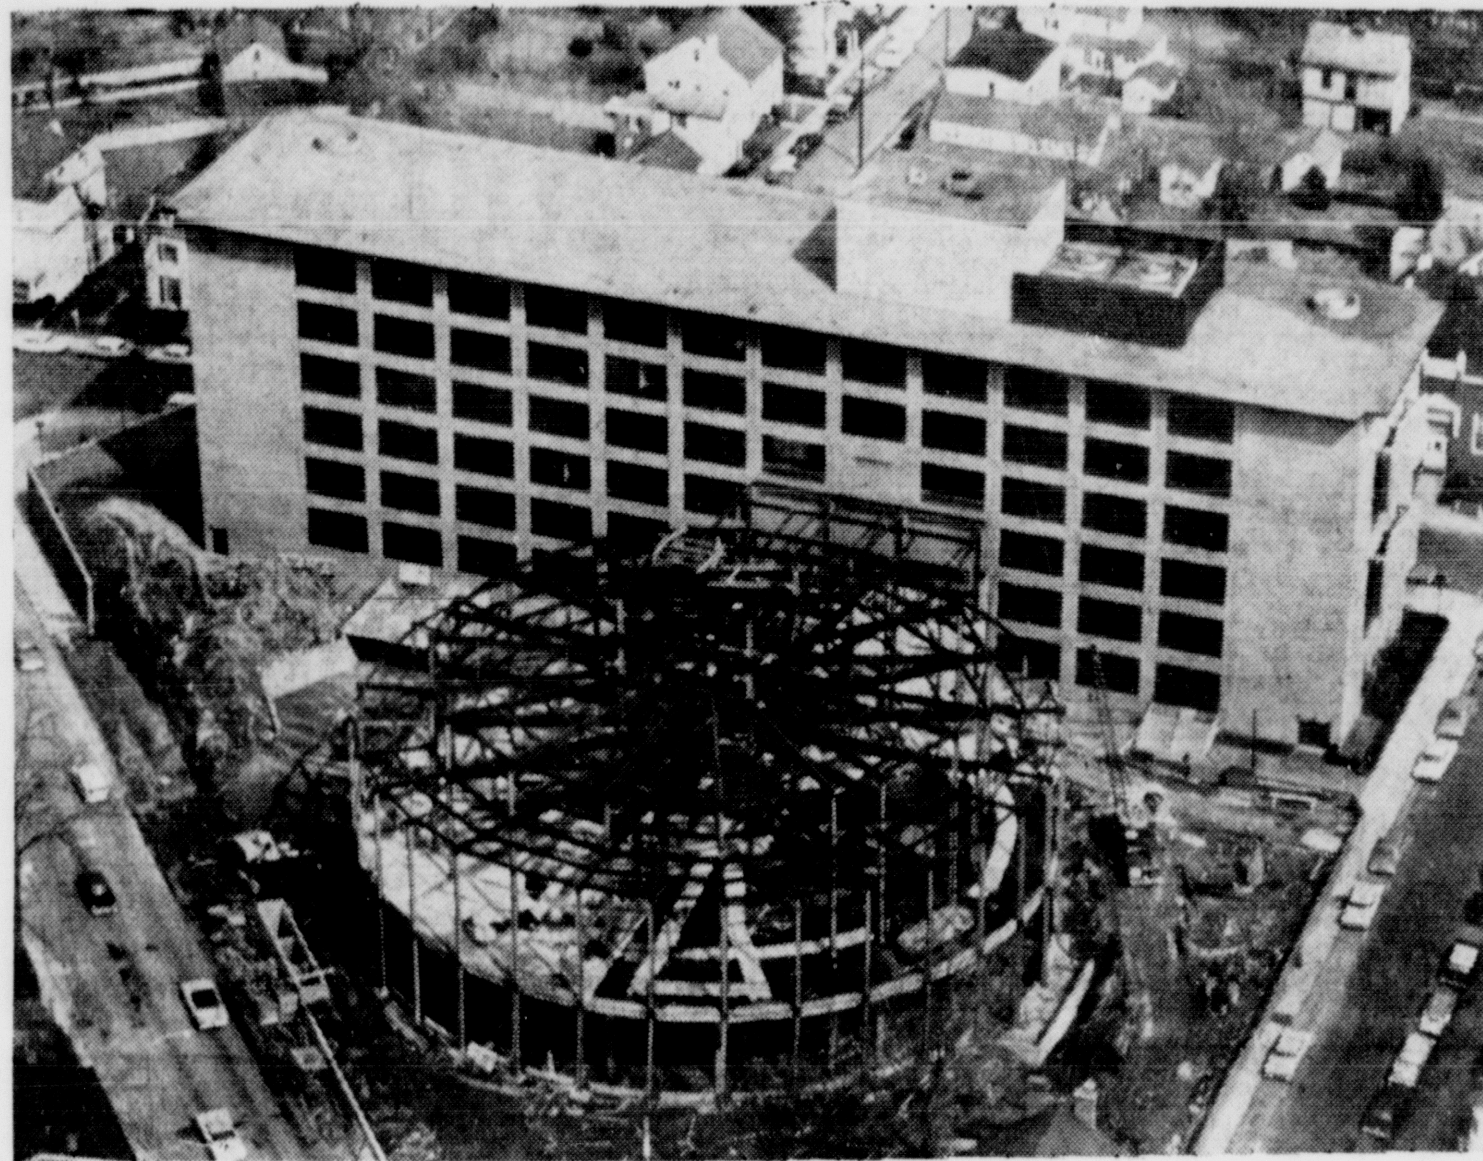

The spring-like day was warm, sunny and uplifting.

The local weatherman forecast a high temperature today in the 30s, and still more to come.

Fair tonight and tomorrow, with a low tonight of 30 to 35 degrees, and high tomorrow near 50 degrees.

High yesterday was 52 degrees at 3 p.m. Low this morning was 37 degrees at 6:55 a.m.

The Wheels Of Justice

Viewed from the air, the judicial wing of the new Bucks County Courthouse in Doylestown looks like a giant wheel. Workmen are now pouring the concrete floors and the job is expected to be finished in April, 1962. Rising into the sky behind it is the county's new Administration Building, already in use, where county offices are housed; the judicial wing will be for only the courts. (Photo By Clay Rector Of Harris, Henry and Petter Photo Service)

Bill By Williams:

Holds Parents Liable For Child's Damages

A parent would be financially liable for any damage or injury caused through a willful act of his child if a bill introduced in the state house by representatives by Rep. Alan D. Williams Jr., R., Bucks, is adopted.

Williams' bill calls for criminal or juvenile court to determine the amount of damages that a child has caused through a willful act and to enter a judgment for that amount against the parent.

First Entry Already In Sunday, July 16, Picked For Fifth Annual Soap Box Derby

The fifth annual Lower Bucks County Soap Box Derby will be held Sunday afternoon, July 16 at Hood and Olds Boulevards, Fairless Hills.

Plans for the colorful derby, sponsored jointly by Reedman Motors, Chevrolet dealer, and the Courier-Times Newspapers, with eight co-sponsoring civic organizations, were made at a meeting last night at Landy's Restaurant, Fairless Hills.

Ray Robb, president of the Fairless Hills Optimist Club, will serve as derby director, assisted by Henry Kuza, Ted Loomis, Irv Schwerin, Charles (Chuck) Rolison and Carl LeMaster as co-directors.

Sorry He Wasn't There

Blaney's Brother Backs Police Story

POTTSVILLE, Pa. (UPI)—The testimony of Richard Blaney, 26, an informer who linked his older brother Vincent, to the safe-cracking at the home of John B. Rich, all but echoed the testimony of police witnesses who preceded him to the stand in the trial of Robert Poulson.

The courtroom rocked with laughter when defense attorney John Lavelle, trying to place the witness in the Rich home at the time of the burglary asked, "Weren't you there?"

"No I wasn't, I wish I was," Blaney shot back.

Richard answered no when he was asked if he was offered a police reward for giving testimony. "I'm giving it because if my brother were alive he would be here testifying."

Richard testified that he accompanied his 29-year-old brother and Poulson back to the Rich home here four times in attempts to get hold of the bonds left in the safe, but each time found Rich at home.

He said Poulson made a confession of his part in the burglary and on April 5, 1960 in the wardens' quarters of Schuylkill County Prison, convinced Vincent he also should confess or Poulson would testify against him. Richard said he was present in the room but did not participate in the statements.

Richard quoted the burglars as saying they were so excited after the theft in August, 1959, that they could hardly drive the automobile back to Philadelphia.

Richard said "they came to my

Uses Naked Bayonet

WITH THE U.S. 7th Infantry Division, Korea UPI —A badly injured U. S. Army officer was off the critical list Thursday thanks to a quick thinking medic who used a bayonet to pry the victim's mouth open to keep him from choking on his own blood.

Doctors at an Army Hospital near Seoul said 1st Lt. Edward J. Murphy, 26, of 29 Laurel Lane Levittown, Pa., was in satisfactory condition and improving.

Murphy suffered a fractured skull, two broken ribs and a broken ankle Saturday when he plunged 70 feet down a sheer cliff during a mountain climbing expedition 60 miles north of Seoul.

The officer landed on three-foot wide ledge. He was in convulsions and bleeding from the nose and mouth when an Army Medic, SP-5 Clarence Carnes of Paxville, S.C., scaled the cliff to help him.

Carnes pried Murphy's locked jaw open with a naked bayonet while St. I.C. Melvin Campbell of Brooklyn, N.Y., held the injured man's head.

While an Army helicopter raised a stretcher up to their precarious perch, Carnes used the bayonet scabbard to wedge Murphy's mouth open and keep him from swallowing his tongue.

The medics lowered the injured officer down the mountainside on the stretcher. Murphy was flown to the 121st Evacuation Hospital in Ascum City by the helicopter.

Murphy is assigned to the 1st Battle Group, 37th Infantry, of the 7th Division in Korea. He was climbing the mountain with 2nd Lt. David N. Henigsmann when he lost his grip on a rope and fell. Henigsmann's cries for help were heard by Capt. Jack B. Porterfield of Marianna, Ark., and 1st Lt. Frederick Mayne of Hudson, Ohio.

They dispatched their jeep driver, SP-4 John M. England of Lenexa, Kan., to an Army Command Post with a message for help, which brought the medics and the helicopter.

Quads Born

Bert McDowell, 29, said she understood the quads were identical and said her sister came through the ordeal very well.

Mrs. Cutaiar, the former Arlene Cherrie, a 5-foot, 6-inch blue-eyed blonde, won the Miss Delaware County beauty title in 1955 and that year was voted "best looking girl" in the Upper Darby High School class. She entered the hospital Wednesday afternoon when she began to feel labor pains.

Dr. Ellison, head of the hospital's department of obstetrics, said it had been expected the babies would be born about a month ahead of schedule.

Have Large Home

The Cutaiar home in Malvern, about 25 miles west of Philadelphia and just beyond the famed "Main Line," is a large ranch-type house with three bedrooms and a den on the first floor and an unfinished second floor.

Relatives said there had been no thought given to finishing the second floor as yet although the Cutaiars have two other children, five-year-old William 4th, and Sheree, 3.

The quadruplets were placed in isolettes at the hospital, which said the parents would not be billed for the delivery.

Mrs. McDowell said she and Arlene are the only children in their family and that there have been no multiple births in the family for "a couple of generations" and no records of anything more than twins before.

Mrs. Cutaiar's father is a driver for the Red Arrow bus line.

Depressed Areas

Bill In House

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A Senate-approved depressed areas program went to the House today, where prospects appeared bright for its passage by the end of the month.

The Senate gave President Kennedy a lopsided 63-27 victory on the $394 million bill Wednesday night. It is intended to aid communities suffering chronic economic depression.

Two years ago a nearly identical bill squeezed through the Senate by a three-vote margin. Wednesday night a total of 48 Democrats and 15 Republicans voted for the bill, and 16 Republicans and 11 Democrats voted against it.

The bill is aimed at achieving what President Kennedy promised last year would be among his first legislative goals after winning the White House.

Former President Eisenhower vetoed two similar bills as too expensive.

Girls 16 To 21 Eligible

Deadline Tonight For 'Dreamboat' Entries

Six o'clock this evening is the absolute deadline for Lower Bucks County girls, 16 to 21 years of age and unmarried, to enter their photographs in the "Miss Dreamboat" contest sponsored by Delhaas Foundation for Higher Education.

The contest heralds the organization's second annual Boat and Sportsmen's Show to be held at Delhaas High School, Route 413, Bristol, on April 6, 7 and 8.

All entries, together with statistics, educational and work experience information and plans for the future, must be in the hands of Robert Goldsmith, 37 Farmbrook Drive, Levittown, by that hour.

lieve; the Cutaiar family is a big one, with many relatives. But they'll see the children as soon as they can.

How about gifts for the new babies—has she had to quadruple her plans or order?

"Oh, no," she said. "The family knew that quads were expected. We knew it a couple of months ago."

Actually the relationship is a bit vague; it traces through Arnold's mother's father. But the family is close. Arnold is a salesman for the Mushroom Transportation Co., the general trucking firm where both the quads' father and grandfather work. The Arnolds are the only relatives to live in Levittown.

Multiple births aren't new to either the Cutaiars or the Arnolds. Mrs. Cutaiar 3rd, mother of the quads, had twins in her family two generations back. Mrs. Arnold herself had twin boys several years ago, but lost one of them in infancy. And, although genealogically it doesn't mean a thing, Mrs. Arnold's sister had twins, her aunts are twins and her grandmother was a twin.

About the so-far-unnamed quadruplets themselves?

"I hardly know what to say yet," Mrs. Arnold declared. "Gee—"

Rolison and Charles Provost, as Optimist coordinators, will work with the Levittown Kiwanis on car inspections, car sponsors, prizes and trophies.

Kuza and Hap Arnold will plan for publicity, schools, parents and boys, starting line, the banquet with the Levittown Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Bristol Treasurer

Schwern and Jack Bristol, derby treasurer, will work with the Lincoln Highway Kiwanis. Duties of the VFW will include the securing of the sound system and track line markers, with coordinators Loomis and Gene McCarron.

The parade and clearing of the raceway come under the direction of the Fairless Hills Fire Company, with Rolison coordinating. Schwern will work with the Levittown Lions. Reedman Motors has charge of the platform, scales, trucks and wheels with Robb as coordinator. And the ramp and fence and phones arrangements will be coordinated by Loomis and Clyde Startz with the Rotary Club.

Other Optimist Club committees include: Big Brother, LeMaster; publicity, Robb; clinics, Rolison, plus oil car derby; finish line, store for inspection, Loomis, with Falls police; secretary, McCarron.

apartment" and that Poulson told him "we just made a half-million dollars score." He said his brother and Poulson each carried brown paper bags containing $25,000.

Richard also testified that he was taken to the prison on April 3, 1960, at which time Poulson asked him if "they grabbed Berkery."

He said he told Poulson that "they got you because he (Berkery) is the weak link."

John C. Berkery was indicted for the burglary along with ex-chorine Lillian Reis, Ralph Staino, Clyde Miller, Poulson and Vincent Blaney.

Blaney was killed gangland style last summer and his charred body was dropped into the Atlantic Ocean off Margate, N.J., allegedly because he "talked too much."

Police maintain $478,000 in cash was stolen from the Rich home. The indictment against Poulson quotes Rich as setting the loot at $20,500.

Investigators said the six suspects were arrested after Richard Blaney, serving a burglary sentence in Eastern Penitentiary at Philadelphia, talked to Philadelphia detective Capt. Clarence Ferguson and State Police Lt. Jesse Stanton.

Troops Rush To Aid Congo Missionaries

LEOPOLDVILLE, (UPI)—Malayan troops of the United Nations are en route to Kivu Province to negotiate the release of 30 missionaries — probably including some Americans — held prisoner by Congolese troops, the U. N. Command announced today.

The missionaries were reported under house arrest at Kasongo, 186 miles west of the provincial capital of Bukavu.

News of the rescue mission came as tough Gurkha troops from India flew into the Congo aboard U.S. Air Force planes during the night in the face of warnings by Congolese leaders that "blood will flow" if they are used against Congolese troops.

A U.N. spokesman said there were reports some time ago that 23 Americans were in the Kivu area and they may be among the 30 missionaries now at Kasongo. However, the U.S. Embassy here had no specific information.

About 30 priests and nuns, all of them apparently Belgians, were reported still in Kasongo.

Short Of Food

The U.N. spokesman said the missionaries are short of food and the Malaysians are carrying flour with them for food relief. The Malaysians will escort those who want to leave to Kindu, the spokesman said.

Observers here noted that Lumumbist authorities in Kindu have been obstructing the departure of Europeans. Only 19 of an estimated 300 missionaries and civilians stranded in Kindu have been allowed to leave so far.

Most of those permitted to leave were first stripped of their personal goods and money as a kind of ransom for permission to depart.

Meanwhile, Gurkha troops — world-famed for their fighting qualities — streamed into the Congo. Five U.S. Air Force Globemasters have so far brought 276 Gurkhas of the 3rd Battalion of the 1st Gurkha Regiment to reinforce U.N. troops here.

Brig. K.A.S. Raja quickly gave assurances they had not come to fight the Congolese but were in the Congo only under conditions laid down by Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru. His statement helped relieve tension building up here.

The Gurkhas piled out of the first plane and lined up on the darkened airfield. There was no sign of any Congolese. Four light Indonesian tanks guarded the approach road but there was no opposition.

The first plane was piloted by Capt. Charles Renner of RFD. He was followed during the night by three more planes which brought a total of 234 — a vanguard of 4,000 Indian troops.

'Calm' Religious Issue Talks Given Acid Test

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy's hopes for calm discussion of the religious issue in his school aid plan got an acid test today before a House education subcommittee.

Kennedy told his news conference Wednesday he hoped the argument over whether parochial schools should share in federal aid to education would not heighten religious prejudice in this country.

The subcommittee, which has touched briefly on the issue several times since hearings opened on Kennedy's $2.3 billion public school aid bill, scheduled testimony from Catholic and other

Twp. Goes To Court On Kartway Injunction

Board Gives Tentative OK To '61 Budget

By TOM WERNER
Courier-Times Staff Writer

Bristol Township Solicitor William J. Carlin will appear in Bucks County Court today to argue against continuation of an injunction filed by Bristol Kartway.

The injunction delays enforcement of a township ordinance restricting operation of the Kartway. The ordinance, passed by the Board of Commissioners recently, restricts hours of the Kartway, requires all karts to be equipped with mufflers and forbids racing on the track on Route 13.

Kartway officials seek to prove that the ordinance is unconstitutional and was passed solely to put it out of business.

New Budget

The Board of Commissioners last night also approved for advertising purposes a record budget et calling for expenditures of $1,822,323.

The new budget calls for a real estate tax rate of 14 mills, up from 11.3 mills last year. The budget also abolishes the 15 mill occupation tax.

The resultant rise in the average homeowner's actual tax bill will be "negligible," according to board president Vincent H. Hartley.

Final Action

Final action on the budget will be taken on or about April 15, when a public hearing will be held to review the record budget.

The board last night also acknowledged receipt of a letter from the township's planning commission admonishing board members for their lack of cooperation in revision of the township's zoning map and zoning ordinances.

The letter beseeched the board to offer more cooperation than previously. At the several meetings scheduled between the planners and the commissioners, no commissioners have been in attendance, the letter said. The commissioners set a March 29 meeting date with the planning commission and promised to attend.

Zoning Map

The commission seeks to revise the township zoning map as a step toward seeking relocation of more industry in the area.

The attraction of more industry was the subject of speculation by the board on whether or not a citizen's committee for industrial development would be able to further that goal. Township Manager Richard J. Bowen was instructed to look into the possibility of forming such a committee.

The board received a letter from J. L. Stinson, division engineer for Region Two, Bureau of Public Roads, U.S. Department of Commerce.

Not Established

Stinson chided the board for thinking that his roads department has been withholding information on the proposed Delaware Expressway and assured the commissioners that the final route of the Delaware Expressway through Bristol Township has not been definitely established.

Bowen was authorized to try to set up a meeting between the commissioners and Stinson to seek further information and clarification.

In response to pleas from several Newportville residents as to the condition of roads in their area, Bowen pointed out that it would be useless for the township to take any action until the roads dry out.

The board approved a resolution asking the state Highway Department to maintain a garage in Lower Bucks. Officials have pointed out that because the county has a garage in Upper Bucks, the state roads in the lower part of the county were the last to be cleared of snow this winter.

Also passed was a resolution commemorating the recent passing of Senator Joseph Grundy.

Do you think there is more chance to become a millionaire today than 50 years ago?

PAUL M. BRUNNER, 50 Twisting Lane, Levittown, shipper and packer.

There's less chance, due to high taxes. When income reaches a certain level, 90 per cent goes to Uncle Sam. The only way to become a millionaire today is to go into the oil business. Then the government only takes 30 per cent of your income.

JOHN BARTUSKA, 30 Tulip Lane, Levittown, plumber.

There is less chance right now. In our area of the country, business is slow. Things are tight and no one's spending. If there's no spending, there's no profit. I'm hopeful that the situation will change.

THOMAS McMANUS, 19 Hybrid Road, Levittown, clerk.

Yes, there are more opportunities today and more money around. Think of what the government spends on missiles and such. That's the big item these days. Retail business improves with big spending by government.

SAMUEL KATZ, 24 Swan Lane, Levittown, store owner.

Yes. Opportunities are terrific in every field. The only thing preventing me from making big money today is my age. If a man keeps his eyes open and is willing to work, the chances are here. It's not easy to keep once it's made, though. The government takes it.

WILLIAM FIZZANO, 44 Jonquil Lane, Levittown, chemical operator.

I think there's less chance because the competition today is greater. In the old days you could work up to a million. Today it would take much longer. It's still possible though.

JAMES CALLAN, 57 Nearwood Lane, Levittown, salesman.

No, I suppose because I'm not a millionaire. If I was one, I'd believe the opposite. Seriously, I believe fields today are crowded. Years ago, everything was wide open.

Hotel Fire Routs 100

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Smoke in the Bellevue Stratford Hotel early this morning sent more than 100 guests, many in nightclothes, scurrying to the first floor lobby.

Firemen and hotel personnel found the smoke coming from six of 15 overstuffed chairs temporarily stored in a fourth floor corridor.

Chief James Carey said the fire apparently was started by a carelessly tossed cigarette.

Lawrence Opposes Restricted Licenses

HARRISBURG (UPI) — Gov. David L. Lawrence was on record today as opposed to any "restricted licenses" for persons who have had their driving privileges revoked but depend on the operation of motor vehicles for their livelihood.

He also told his news conference Wednesday that the administration plans to continue to urge passage of a bill to legalize state police use of radar despite one defeat of the measure in the Senate.

Lawrence, just returned from a 12-day Florida vacation, read a prepared statement in which he said restricted licenses, as proposed by some legislators, "for any purpose is in contradiction to the basic concept of a good traffic improvement program."

Should Have Incentive
"The professional driver, the man who drives for a living, should—because of his experience and training, and by the very nature of his work—be the safest driver on our highways," Lawrence said.

The governor also said he favored another demonstration of radar for legislators. He said he had read of the "fiasco" last week when the speedometer of a car used for the test failed to jibe with a radar reading. State police blamed the failure of the speedometer.

Lawrence said police "ought to test" the car before it is used in a demonstration.

When asked to comment on a statement that Republicans plan to use radar as a "political issue" the governor replied:

"If they are making radar a political issue it's a mighty good one for us. You are not making votes by opposing traffic safety."

Australia May Quit British

LONDON (UPI) — Rhodesian Premier Sir Roy Welensky predicted today that Australia would be the next country to quit the British Commonwealth over racial policies that led South Africa to pull out Wednesday.

South Africa's surprise decision Wednesday to quit when it becomes a republic May 31 because of criticism of its white supremacy policies divided the remaining members of the commonwealth and threatened British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan with a political crisis at home.

They'll Give Equal Time

Members of the Mill St. Businessman's Association heard a surprise guest speaker at their meeting this week, talking on politics and government.

Douglas D. Morlando, independent Republican candidate for the Republican nomination for burgess, appeared at the meeting and asked to be heard.

As a result, the businessmen decided to invite the other candidates for burgess, one Republican and two Democrats, to meetings between now and the primary election, May 16. They also will invite candidates for the two borough council seats in the first ward.

The businessmen revealed that they are looking for a part-time secretary who will work a few days a week, taking dictation and writing news releases.

Spinster Takes Stand In British Spy Trial

LONDON (UPI)—A 46-year-old spinster, accused of stealing Britain's highest naval secrets, went to the witness box in the Old Bailey Court today in an attempt to clear herself of charges that she was a spy for the Soviet Union.

Miss Ethel Elizabeth Gee, an employee of the underwater weapons establishment at the Portland naval base, was the first defense witness. At 3 p.m. (10 a.m. EST) Sir Reginald Manningham-Buller, attorney-general of the realm, rested the crown's case against Miss Gee and:

—Her fiancée, Henry F. Houghton, also employed at Portland. —Gordon Arnold Lonsdale, accused of obtaining secret documents from Miss Gee and Houghton. —Peter John Kroger and his wife, Helen, charged with transmitting the secret documents to Moscow. The Federal Bureau of Investigation in Washington has identified the Krogers as Morris and Dora Cohen, formerly of New York.

All morning Miss Gee had taken a hammering from prosecution witnesses who testified that in her shopping bag had been found film bearing photographs of more than 200 pages of a red-covered book which contained naval secrets.
